ABOUT ME

I grew up in Kansas City, and my husband and I plan to move back in early 2022. My career is based in the visual arts, nonprofit administration, and museum education. I'm a "doer" who loves running on the ground making things happen, but I'm also not afraid of leading and dreaming of the big picture. My side hustles have included an art history podcast with friends, and upcycling clothing. In my free time, my husband and I are into flexitarian cooking—we consider ourselves part-time vegans—and take frequent walks at the park.
